CHASE OF SHOOTING SUSPECT COVERS 3 COUNTIES

Pine Level woman shot during crime spree

by Marvin McLwain
Editor

A combined effort of surrounding law enforcement agencies lead to the arrest of 19-year-old Michael Henagan of Route 2, Box 118, Brantley, Alabama.

The crime spree started Friday night with the theft, by Henagan, of an automobile from Melinda Cook. The vehicle was recovered Saturday after it was wrecked near Brantley.

Late Sunday night, Henagan apparently stole a pick-up truck in Brantley which contained two pistols, a .22 Cal. and a .38 Cal.

Later, Henagan confronted a friend and stated that he was going to kill Melinda Cook. Cook is an ex-girlfriend and had gone back to her husband, Micky Cook.

Henagan went to the Cook residence, located on Coffee Co. Rd. 364 in the Pine Level Community, and allegedly shot her once in the back with a .22 Cal. pistol.

He also allegedly fired several shots into the double-wide mobile home which, at the time, was occupied by Micky Cook, ex-husband, and Ms. Cook's four-year-old daughter.

Mr. Cook attempted to take his ex-wife to Elba General Hospital at which time Henagan rammed the rear of the car causing extensive damage but no injuries.

Micky Cook was able to drive the car back to the home of Ms. Cook's grandfather, Daniel Kilcrease. From there, she was transported by a unit of the Elba Rescue Squad to Elba General Hospital for treatment and later transferred to Medical Center - Enterprise.

Meanwhile, Henagan had wrecked the stolen truck in Crenshaw County and fled on foot. Prior to wrecking, he had gotten gas in Opp and drove off without paying for it.

Henagan apparently walked about three miles, still in Crenshaw County, and stole another truck belonging to Kevin Kennedy. He drove the truck to Andalusia where he again got gas without paying for it.

Andalusia police spotted the truck and gave chase but lost sight of the vehicle on a dirt road in the Red Level area.

The truck, being driven by Henagan, was again spotted on Old Hwy. 106 in Covington County and a chase by Dozier and Red Level police units was on.

Henagan avoided a roadblock which had been set up by turning onto a dirt road off Hwy. 106. Pursuing law enforcement officers set up another roadblock on the dirt road. The fugitive stopped short of the roadblock and once again fled on foot into the woods.

A K-9 tracking unit was called in from the Troy Police Department to assist in the search. After about an hour of tracking, the suspect gave himself up without further incident.

Involved in the three-county chase were units from the Coffee County Sheriff's Department, Crenshaw County Sheriff's Department, Covington County Sheriff's Department, Brantley Police Department, Opp Police Department, Red Level Police Department, Dozier Police Department, Georgiana Police Department, Luverne Police Department, Troy Police Department, Elba Police Department, and the Alabama State Troopers.

Henagan is facing numerous charges including attempted murder, theft of property in the first degree, attempted assault in the first degree, and shooting into an occupied dwelling in Coffee County.

He is presently being held in the Coffee County Jail. Bails totaling $45,000.00 have been set by District Judge Tom Head.

The incident remains under investigation by the Coffee County Sheriff's Department and the 12th Judicial Circuit District Attorney's Office.

A LARGE CROWD OF CITIZENS was on hand at the new Elba school building Tuesday night to review plans presented by the Alabama Highway Department on proposed routes for the 4-laning of U.S. 84 from Enterprise to Andalusia. A similar meeting was held Monday evening in Opp. Those attending were shown maps and heard highway officials patiently explain procedures and potential problems faced in this project. Citizens attending the Elba meeting were interested in either the economic impact on the communities involved or were property owners somewhere along the present U. S. 84 route or one of several proposed alternate routes. Highway department officials said plans were now being formulated for the project and they wanted and needed public input.

LOOKING AT ORDINANCE TO ABOLISH MUNICIPAL COURT SYSTEM

New Brockton Town Council considers gas tax hike

by Marvin McLwain
Editor

The main item of business in New Brockton's Town Council meeting Monday evening was the consideration of two new city ordinances.

In the first ordinance read to council members, an increase in the tax on gasoline and diesel fuel from 1 cent to 2 cents was proposed.

Mayor Kathryn Holley told council members that the tax increase would bring New Brockton in line with surrounding towns.

The original 1¢ tax was levied in 1930 and there has been no increase since then.

According to Holley, the 1¢ tax generates approximately $7,500.00 in revenue for the town. In theory, that figure should at least double.

The other proposed ordinance deals with the town's municipal court.

Being in two parts, the ordinance first, abolishes the municipal court system presently being used by the town and secondly, places all laws and town's ordinances under the jurisdiction of the District Court of Coffee County.

The first step in passing these two ordinances, gasoline tax and court system, was taken in Monday's meeting by their reading. Council members will vote on and pass, should they see fit to do so, the ordinances at their next regular meeting (September 13, 1993).

There was some concern expressed about increasing the gasoline tax, but there seem to be complete agreement among council members concerning the abolishing of the municipal court.

Council members feel that a lot of "headaches" will be alleviated by going under the District Court.

After hearing a proposal from James Brown, Chief of New Brockton's Volunteer Fire Department, the council approved the updating of the communication system used by the police, fire department and rescue squad.

The plan calls for the purchase of a repeater system, 10 walkie talkies and the reprogramming of 12 to 15 radios presently being used by the three departments.

According to Brown, the new system will provide much improved communications between the three agencies. For instance, a policeman at the scene of an emergency, will be able to activate the paging system which alerts members of the fire department or the rescue squad, or both, that they are needed. This feature will save valuable time during an emergency situation.

The cost of the system is $7,500.00. Both the fire department and the rescue squad agreed to share equally with the city in providing the funds to pay for the improved communications. Council members voted to pay a third of the total cost which will be the police department's share. All three agencies agreed to acquire the funds from The Peoples Bank, LaDon Smith and his brother, Trenton, came before the council seeking information concerning the old Jr. Food Store building.

GOVERNOR PRESENTS INDUSTRIAL ACCESS FUNDS

County gets grants totaling $221,616.00

On Wednesday, July 28, Governor Jim Folsom presented Coffee County two grants totaling $221,616.00.

The grants were from the Alabama Industrial Access Bond Authority to be used for improving two county roads.

One grant of $61,488 will be used for improving Co. Rd. 137 to benefit Charles Lott Poultry Farm, a producer of poultry.

The creation of one new job and the retention of three jobs by the company will be a result of this grant.

Another grant of $160,128 will be used for the replacement of the bridge over Tight Eye Creek. This will benefit ConAgra Broiler Company, a producer of poultry products, processing and sales.

This "road improvement" will be a factor in the creation of 200 new jobs and the retention of 900 jobs by the company.

Gov. Folsom said, "It gives me great pleasure to be a part of this cooperative effort between the state, Coffee County and the companies to create jobs for the people of Alabama."

These grants will not only provide improved access to the ConAgra Broiler Company facilities and the Charles Lott Poultry Farm, it will enhance the possibility of locating additional companies in Coffee County.

"I want to express my sincere appreciation to the officials of these two companies for their decision to expand in our progressive state. We will continue to work hard to ensure that Alabama is a better place for business to grow and prosper."

"I congratulate the people of Coffee County for their successful efforts in assisting these companies with these projects, and I look for-

Elba welcomes Dr. Windham

A large crowd of Elba and area residents paid a visit to Elba General Hospital last Sunday afternoon. Their reason for visiting was a good one - to welcome a new physician to Elba.

The reception, given by the Healthcare Authority of Elba General Hospital and Nursing home, gave folks a chance to drop by and meet Dr. Kathy Windham, M.D.

Also present were: David, Dr. Windham's husband; her mother and father, Philip and Sarah Booty; and David's parents, Karl and Jeanette Windham.

Monday morning, Dr. Windham opened her office, located across from Elba General Hospital, and began her practice of internal medicine and family practice.

Shortly after Dr. Windham was "welcomed" to Elba by Dr. John M. Kimmey, M.D., Elba's Senior Physician, one comment made was "Dr. Windham, we hope you are around long enough, that in later years, you will be the 'senior physician' welcoming a new doctor to Elba."

Elba is very fortunate to have three other physicians in practice here: Dr. Lance K. Dyess, Dr. Henry Cochran, and Dr. Glenn Roberts.

With the addition of Dr. Windham, Elba's ability to provide health care to its residents, as well as area residents, is greatly enhanced.

Dr. Kimmey and Dr. Donald Crook, both retired, continue to serve in advisory capacities to the healthcare community in Elba.

Local citizens are continuing to help '93 Flood Victims

Elba citizens continue to donate to flood victims in the Mississippi Valley. City Clerk Jeff Goodson said Tuesday morning that the trailer parked behind city hall continues to fill. It should be ready for movement to the flood area within the next few days, Goodson said.

A Salvation Army group in Northwest Florida has notified Goodson they are standing by to finish filling the trailer if there is any room left.

People who wish to make monetary donations are being referred to either the Salvation Army or Red Cross offices in Enterprise. Both organizations are active in helping disaster victims, a fact that is well known to residents of Elba.

BRAINSTORMS

The 1993-94 General Telephone directories were published without the phone numbers of courthouse officials in Elba and several in New Brockton. The phone company printed some compact stickers about 4 X 1 1/2" with these omitted numbers in nice bold red letters. We understand a copy was included in each phone bill in the affected areas. However if any of our readers needs one (or additional) copies of this sticker, we have some available. Just come by the Elba Clipper office and get one. NOTE: We found an ideal place to stick the list of additional numbers is on the inside back cover, right over that tractor and backhoe. It doesn't cover important information and is still easy to access.

It is hard to realize that August is already here and children will be returning to school in a few weeks. We see parents of school age children already getting those back to school clothes ready... this is especially true with several we know who have a child going off to school for the first time. In fact, we hope there is room in the buildings for a couple of mothers, 'cause we half expect some to absolutely resist letting go of their baby.

It appears President Clinton is finally getting his new tax-and-spend economic package approved by the U. S. Congress. A so-called economist wrote in some publication last week "no one in Washington really expects all that deficit reduction." We have to admit, but that is our opinion also. When the dust settles, government types will explain to us common folks, "Well, without the additional tax, the deficit would have been $500 billion higher, so it really was a tax reduction." Oh, now get ready for some kind of new tax to fund Hillary's new health plan.

The flooding of the Mississippi River is "over" according to news reports coming out of the area. What they mean is the water level has peaked. Ain't no way things are "over" for the victims of the worst flood in U. S. history. In fact their problems are just beginning! It will be tough going back into those flooded damaged homes and businesses (where there is one still left) but even tougher will be the clean-up. Our experience indicates river mud doesn't come off furniture and walls. Brick walls absorb water and slowly sweat it out for an unknown number of years. Then we have flood victim friends who could tell countless tales of horror about waiting for that promised "swift" help from Washington. Their troubles are just beginning. In fact the family whose home the TV camera showed washing away might have it best in the long run. They don't have any clean-up to do, just start over knowing they ain't got nothing left.

Nine ticket holders reportedly split the Florida lottery last week. We think that is a record number of winners for one week. Those who won probably have mixed emotions. First they won and that is a great feeling, but not the $29 million they surely dreamed of getting when they realized their number was the winning combination. Of course, they need to realize there are a whole bunch of folks out here who didn't even get back their $1.00, therefore it is still a big win for all nine.

A quote feature of an area daily newspaper had the following this week: "Nothing is easier than self-deceit. For what each man wishes, that he also believes to be true." It was first said by Demosthenes. All of us can point to people on our left and on our right who are guilty of this self-deceit. But then reading the entire quote slower, we need to realize it applies to each of us equally, even the one reading it! In fact this one is good enough to go on the bulletin boards of the world.

The City of Tuskegee has passed an occupational tax. This means they have a city income tax and it applies to anyone who works in the city limits of Tuskegee. For a moment, forget the intense debate which goes with this type tax. What we see is a town which has all that "new money" from the dog track tax, but is still short of spending money. There is something about government that just ain't right. Regardless of the level of government or the amount of income available, there is always a shortage of money to pay the bills. A government or agency working on $1, thinks $2 would solve all the world's problems. Then they raise salaries, buy nicer desks, etc. and hire assistants for the assistants. Soon, they are right back in the same position they were in before getting the extra dollar. We challenge anyone to show us an exception which lasted more than a few years.

Strong rumors are circulating around Coffee County of county commissioners' plans to take off the property tax election scheduled for next month. This is the additional tax to build a new courthouse in Enterprise. One of the Enterprise division commissioners reportedly told one of our mutual friends, "The tax was going to fall anyway." There has been very little talk about the tax around our office lately, but during the time the proposal was being debated before the commission, we listened closely and today we can't name a single person, anywhere in Coffee County, who admitted he or she would vote for the additional tax. Of course some would, but we suspect the members of our county governing body are finally getting in tune with the thinking of the citizens they are supposed to represent.

FROM THE HOUSE Congressman Terry Everett

House Defense Bill Bodes Well For Southeast Alabama

Shortly before midnight on July 27, the House Armed Services Committee approved the first defense budget under the new Clinton administration, marking the first of five years of massive budget cuts to our national security programs. The new defense budget is some $10 billion less than last year's.

Among the positive provisions of the 1994 Defense Authorization bill is the inclusion of the 2.25 pay raise for our service men and women, the modernization of Army aviation programs like the Comanche, Blackhawk and Apache helicopters, and the construction of much-needed projects for military installations in the Second Congressional District.

Under the new defense bill, the Air Force's mobility requirements, enhance safety and enable the Guard and Reserve units to modernize and deploy from Maxwell.

While I am pleased with its provisions for the Second District, I am very concerned that this Defense budget sets in motion some $127 billion in defense cuts over the next five years. To be sure, defense spending should be considered in over all government spending cuts if we are to manage the budget deficit. In my mind, however, reductions of this magnitude in so short a period of time will do irreparable harm to our national security capability. After all, we need to be aware that during this critical period of restless peace the post Cold War world is definitely not a safe one.

The new defense bill also approves the Army's request to transfer to Maintenance Manager/Program Test Pilot Training program from Fort Eustis, Virginia to Fort Rucker. This consolidation effort has been long overdue and will result in an Army savings of $1.1 million.

Those discharged during the same period of time were: Lois Young, Carlton Sewell, Jackie Hill, Ellis Warren, Trudie Fuller, Lewis Griffin, Ricky Carpenter, Johnathan Perkins, Patricia Oswald, Dorothy Killingsworth, Ruby Carmley, Robert McCormick, James Odum, Ruby Carmley, Robert Chandler, Ruby Burks, and Dorothy Killingsworth.

Remembering With Jake

By Jake Bonneau

I know that I am the only person in Elba that is alive and can tell the following. I don't know of anyone that has ever told of the way life was in the early years of the funeral business. I started assisting Conner Deane, and at times Hochm Michel, when I was 15 years old. That was 1935. Very few people would let their loved ones be removed from home to be embalmed. We had a folding embalming board that we carried into the home and placed the body on it. It was low so we were forced to sit in straight chairs. We had at least two large suitcase type cases that we unfolded the sides and these contained the large glass, square bottles that were used for the independent funeral homes were getting too much business, that meant Liberty National, which had bought Brown-Service, had to buy them out. Keep down the competition. Then Lugure formed a burial insurance company. It, with the help of the independent funeral homes, also did not keep down the competition. The Lugure formed a burial insurance company. It, with the help of the independent funeral homes, also did not keep down the competition. The Lugure formed a burial insurance company. It, with the help of the independent funeral homes, also did not keep down the competition.

It was a clear case of forming a monopoly and that is forbidden by federal law. There was no Ralph Nader groups or other consumer protection groups in that day. The insurance company had a better of lawyers on their payroll at all times to fight any case that would prevent them from getting richer and richer. The funeral homes had fought long and hard for many years but finally had to face the fact that they had lost. Leon A. Boyd, it had Boyd Funeral Home in Enterprise, James Wood had Wood Funeral Home in Troy, Bonneau-Jeter was in Elba. It was the same in Opp, Andalusia and all over the state, competition was eliminated. We had Emergency Aid and Southern Benefit Insurance Companies in Elba that wrote some burial policies, but never enough for the big business to worry about buying them. Burial policies in force enabled the insurance agents to have access to homes where they sold cash policies and made the L-N Company even wealthier. The company then started not honoring the vault and burial policies as they were written. They instructed the funeral homes to give you credit towards the funeral you were going to buy. The funeral home having a nice funeral that had been paid for in your policy. I am sure that many people that are younger than I am, and less older than me, that have PAID UP their funeral policies, which have been put away for any number of years, that is not what they were told when they were purchased.

As that old country song about the man who lost his woman said, "She got the gold mine-I got the shaft." Liberty National is now part of Torch Mark. That is a holding company that is the biggest company in the Southeastern United States of America. Hayes Funeral Home is not responsible for any of this. They are a little cog in the big wheel. They were just to business with the insurance company. If I were Charlie, I would remove the "Brown-Service" under the Hayes name out front. It certainly is no longer an asset.

By the way, it is hard to believe. We have now become accustomed to having funeral services at Hayes Chapel. I told of how hard it was to get people to change. Once they do, it sure becomes a habit in a hurry. Hayes had Elba's first chapel and that was when the Hayes Funeral Home was built on the hill in 1969. I trust this has been enlightening.

Mr. and Mrs. Ricky Gulleuge, along with their two children, lost their home and all of their belongings due to a fire Monday morning, August 2, 1993. Their home is located on the Troy highway, near the Coffee-Pike County line, it was to get people to change. Once they do, it sure becomes a habit in a hurry. Hayes had Elba's first chapel and that was when the Hayes Funeral Home was built on the hill in 1969. I trust this has been enlightening.

We Get Letters.....

Mr. Ferrin Cox,

May I take this means to express my thanks and appreciation to the people of Elba and the many surrounding communities for the kindness and sympathy shown my brother, JIMMIE FOLEY, during his illness and death.

The friendship and love of the people of Elba and surrounding communities has been his life. He was never happier than when he was around the Courthouse Square, in downtown Elba, getting to meet and talk with friends. For this I will be eternally grateful.

God bless each one of you.

Lamar

Classes begin for Elba City Schools on Monday, August 23, 1993. Teachers, staff and administrators are showing excitement about the upcoming school term.

Elba school officials are attempting to bring more parental involvement into the schools by sponsoring a Parents Night on August 10, 1993 at 7:00 p.m. in the high school auditorium. This meeting will be held to further inform parents of what the schools are doing to provide quality education to Elba children. A special emphasis will be placed on explaining how a new communication system can be used to receive information, bulletins and announcements from the school during hours that the school is normally closed.

Parents of high school students are encouraged to make a special effort to come to this meeting. School officials are looking forward to sharing ideas and information relative to the education of our children.

Several new programs and policies are ready to be used for the first time this fall. The policies were established to help school officials and staff members provide a safe, orderly environment for all children.

A new communication system has been installed at the high school.

"Talk one" is a phone system that will allow parents to call the school after hours to receive information concerning their child's grades, attendance, homework assignments, etc. The school staff looks forward to providing this information source to working parents. The new football stadium will be finished and the opening football game against Troy will be played in Elba on September 3, 1993.

Two important new policies have been adopted by the Board of Education and will be enforced this year. The policy simply states that bookbags will not be allowed at the high school (grades 7-12). Elementary children (grades K-6) will be allowed to use bookbags or book satchels as in the past. The new policy also states that no gang related items, clothing or paraphernalia will be allowed on campus, including boys' earrings, flags or symbols of known hate groups, and other commonly known symbols identified with violent groups. School officials hope all parents will join in the effort to assure an environment conducive to good learning experience in the Elba schools. These policies will be further explained in student handbooks to be given to each student when school begins.

Car Wash and Bake Goods Sale Scheduled

Elba High School band director Jeff Ellis said Tuesday that the band auxiliary units would be holding a car wash and bake sale this Saturday, August 7, in the Peoples Bank parking lot. They will be washing cars from 8 a.m. until 2 p.m. Donations will be accepted.

REAL PERSON REAL IMPROVEMENTS

James Perkins talks about the benefits of making Good Cents Improvements.

■ When Electric Cooperative members James Perkins and his wife decided to convert their old garage into a new den, the first thing they did was call their local cooperative to get the Good Cents facts. They got them, along with professional assistance and advice on improvements to make.

■ We were really pleased with the services from our co-op," says Perkins. "We installed a new heat pump, insulated windows and lots of other really significant improvements."

■ Now, along with a beautiful new den, the Perkins will enjoy years of lower energy bills, thanks to their Good Cents Improvements. Good Cents features make a home more energy-efficient. That means lower energy costs every month. And research has shown that Good Cents homes sell faster because of the energy savings they offer.

■ James Perkins will be the first one to tell you: For Real Improvement, Get the Good Cents facts.

■ Call your local member-owned electric cooperative today and ask for the Good Cents facts.

TWO MINUTES WITH THE BIBLE

BY CORNELIUS R. STAM, FOUNDER BEREAH BIBLE SOCIETY CHICAGO, ILLINOIS 60635

IS GOD DEAD?

"As the Lord of hosts liveth, before whom I stand..." (1 Kings 18:35). Is God dead? According to the above passage He certainly was not dead to Elijah, who knew Him intimately as the living God. The prophet had used similar phraseology on a previous occasion when he had declared to the wicked King Ahab: "As the Lord God of Israel liveth, before whom I stand, there shall not be dew nor rain these years, but according to my word" (1 Kings 17:1).

Elijah's prediction came true. For three years and six months there had been no rain nor even dew in Israel. Rivers and brooks were drying up. The land lay parched and cracked in the sun. There were no crops, nor any grazing land for the cattle. They had been dying like flies. The king himself had been brought down from his throne to search for a bit of green grass along the remaining streams "to save the horses and mules alive," lest they "lose all the beast." The king's humiliation had in turn enraged the haughty Queen Jezebel, so that she hated Elijah with a deep and bitter hatred. Indeed, so bitterly was the prophet hated by Ahab himself, that the king had sent far and wide to find Elijah and had not given up until he had taken oaths from the heads of the surrounding nations that he was not to be found. It was under these circumstances that "the Word of the Lord came to Elijah," saying, Go show thyself to Ahab. (1 Kings 18:1). God was about to expose the sham and impotence of Jezebel's god, Baal.

As the prophet went to look for Ahab he met Obadiah, the governor of the king's house, and said: "Go tell thy lord, Behold, Elijah is here" (1 Kings 18:8). Obadiah shuddered at these words and begged Elijah not to make him go. He knew the intense hatred which the king harbored toward Elijah and he feared that, while he went to convey the news, the Spirit of God might take Elijah away to some other place.

It was now, when it meant far more than it had meant three and a half years before, that Elijah replied: "As the Lord of hosts liveth, BEFORE WHOM I STAND, I will surely show myself unto him today" (1 Kings 18:15). And, as we know, he kept his word.

Senior Citizens Of Cordelia Street Hold Meeting

by Wanda Sasser

When members of the Senior Citizens of Cordelia Street met for their weekly meeting on July 29 at the HRDC building on Factory Street, it seemed like we hadn't met for such a long time and it has been several weeks since we have fellowshiped together. Even though the weather was hot, several folks walked to various stores. Others just played dominoes and visited-including out the news. Several people are on the sick list and they were thought of and spoken about. The members hope to do some things when the weather gets cooler. Most folks are busy with vegetables and it was apparent when the group went to the table. A delicious lunch was served to the following: Iris McDowell, Bonnie Wesley, Myrl Burkett, Mary Sutley, Zedie Bouyer, Alene English, Mattie Lou Goodson, Frances Shaboo, Jimbo Cole, Frank and Lennie McCollough, Odell Reeves, Marion Brunson, Mike Brunson, M. Boling, and Wanda Sasser.

Views From THE PRESSBOX

By Ricky Mularz, Sports Editor

Melanie may only be a four-year-old, but she is almost a teenager in her own mind and has started combing her own hair and picking out her own clothes. She now combs her hair for hours after taking a bath and beams with pride when it looks good, and changes clothes three or four times a day, making sure that what she has on matches just perfect. Oh well, at least she hasn't learned how to use the telephone!

IT'S FOOTBALL TIME ACROSS STATE OF ALABAMA

High school football teams from all across the state will gather this week for the opening of fall drills and that means that the season can't be far behind. The rules state that the teams must hold conditioning drills for a couple of days before actually starting practice, but the teams will all put on the pads next week and before long the pads will be popping. Here's a quick look at what area fans can expect...

ELBA TIGERS are reported to be down in numbers and rumors are that at least two or three potential starters have decided not to come back out for the team. The Tigers have had over twenty players working all summer in the weight room and have some quality athletes; however, only time will tell if the Tigers have the numbers it takes to win against the competition they face.

NEW BROCKTON GAMECOCKS are excited for the first time in years and summer workouts have the coaches and players looking forward to the season. If the large group that was out in the spring returns, so could the winning ways that Gamecocks fans are used to.

ZION CHAPEL REBELS sound like anything but a team coming off to a winless season. The Rebels have worked hard since the end of spring getting ready and the players and fans are proclaiming that '93 will be the year the Rebels rally. This bunch could be worth keeping an eye on.

KINSTON BULLDOGS will be under new hands as the entire staff was swept out after yet another disappointing season. The Bulldogs are reported to be big and strong, and the key here will be how well the new young staff of coaches can inspire the players. Only time will tell.

BRANTLEY BULLDOGS were big winners in all sports last season and this year are still excited and ready for the season to start in football. The Dogs lost one of the state's top quarterbacks, but have outstanding athletes returning and could again be a solid club.

VOLLEYBALL SEASON IS ALSO JUST AROUND CORNER

Everyone knows that the high school football season is only a month away, but did you know that the volleyball season is also right around the corner, and that the Elba Lady Tigers will compete in the sport for the first time ever. That's right, Elba High School will field a girls volleyball team this year and the season will start in September. Coach Susan Barnes held tryouts last spring and word was that the girls were excited about the new team, and looking forward to the season. The girls will have to crawl before they learn to walk; however, before long you can bet the Lady Tigers will be spiking their opponents!

NEW TIGER STADIUM BEGINNING TO TAKE SHAPE

Any Elba Tiger fan that hasn't been out to the new "Tiger Stadium" needs to head on out and see what a lovely place the new stadium has turned out to be. The facility was nearing completion last week, the light poles were in place, the pressbox and concession buildings were complete and the field itself looked great. The new stadium should pump new blood into a program that is already one of the finest around.

SHAKEYS ONE OF 100 TEAMS AT ASA STATE TOURNEY

The ASA Class D State Softball Tournament was held last weekend in Montgomery and among the 100 teams entered was Shakeys, of Elba. The Shakeys team, also known as the Red Brahma, placed third at district and later competed at sub-state before making the trip to Montgomery. Win or lose, to compete with 99 other teams from all across the state tournament was quite a thrill, and an honor for the local team.

Coach Wood says stadium is one to be proud of Elba's new 'Tiger Stadium' nears completion

The Elba Tigers will hit the field this week for the beginning of pre-season football practice, and when they do, they will be making history as the first group ever to practice and play at the new Tiger Stadium.

The Tigers played for 52 years at the stadium located behind the old Elba High School, and the stadium was listed several years ago as one of the toughest places in the state for opposing teams to claim a road win.

"A lot of history was made at the old stadium, and it will always be a big part of Elba Tiger football tradition," said Elba's Coach Mack Wood, "but the new stadium is one that everyone in Elba can, and will be proud of, and the tradition of Elba Tiger football and winning will continue."

"Once the school was moved to the trailers, and then to the new location, it became a major inconvenience for us to try to practice and play at the old stadium," stated Wood. "We would be late getting to the field after school and then have to practice late, and we just didn't have the facilities needed for us, or the visiting teams. We now have a field only steps from the dressing room, a lighted practice field and the most modern facilities of any school in the state."

"It will take the actual playing field a number of years to mature," added Wood, "but the turf looks outstanding and is ready to play on. We'll have some of the usual problems faced when one plays on a new field; however, the problems will be minor as we go forward and complete a facility that is second to none at the high school level. We have a lot of work to do at practice before the season starts, but being able to practice and work out at the school will definitely pay immediate dividends."

Like snow in summer and like rain in harvest, so honor is not fitting for a fool.

Like a sparrow in its fitting, like a swallow in its flying, so a curse without cause does not alight.

13 Year old Jamie Hall Honored for 4-H Wood Working Project

Richard Petcher
Associate County Agent
DISTRICT ROUNDUP WINNER
Jamie Hall, son of Mr. and Mrs.
Joe Hall of Victoria, recently placed second in the 4-H Wood Working Demonstration at our 12-County District Roundup. Jamie is 13 years old and attends Zion Chapel High School. His demonstration for building a cypress coffee table was follows:

This demonstration will include information on the proper materials, tools, and procedure for building a cypress coffee table.

The materials for the table should be carefully selected. They are:
A cross-section of a cypress log, a cypress stump, plywood, four 2 or 2 1/2 inch wood screws, four 1 1/2 inch wood screws, 2 part epoxy urethane plastic, a large piece of plastic, and matches.

In order to build the table properly, several tools are needed in addition to these two safety items: governs, which should be worn at all times to prevent eye injury and a face mask, which should be worn while sanding to prevent the particles from entering the lungs.

First of all a saw is needed to cut the wood. Cypress wood should be allowed to dry for one year before it is used. This assured that the wood will not warp or shrink after it is used.

The top must be cut to the desired thickness, usually about an inch and a half. The base is also cut with a saw after carefully measuring with a tape measure to get the desired height. This height is normally about 15 inches. A carpenter's level is used to make sure the table is level.

A piece of plywood should be cut to be used as a stabilizer. The size of this depends upon the size of the table top being used. For this particular top the plywood was cut to eight and three quarters by eleven and one half inches. A wood chisel is used to scrape the bark off the edges of the cypress to prevent peeling later on.

This is done by carefully tapping the chisel with a hammer on the edges of the top and by using a wire brush
on the cypress stump.

The wood is now ready for rough sanding using a disc sander.
The disc sander smooths out the larger imperfections in the wood.
The finish sander is then used to get an almost glass-like finish on the wood.

Next, holes should be drilled so that the base can be attached to the top. For this, a drill and drill bit are needed.

The wood is now ready for the first coating of 2 part epoxy urethane plastic. A sheet of plastic should be placed on the work table before the urethane is brushed on in order to prevent damaging the work table and to prevent small foreign particles from getting on the cypress table.
The epoxy urethane plastic is a mixture of a hardener and a resin, which must be thoroughly mixed for at least two minutes to get the desired consistency. After applying the first coat, eight hours of drying time is required. A propane torch may be used to remove any air bubbles which may appear before drying has occurred. The propane torch is lit with a match and adjusted. The flame should be held approximately 1/4 inch from the urethane moving the torch across the table at a moderate pace. The second coat of the ure-thane plastic should then be applied and the propane torch used again if needed. This second coat should be allowed to dry for 48 hours.

The wood is now ready for assembly. Using a screw driver, the plywood is attached to the top of the stump with four 2 or 2 1/2 inch wood screws. The cypress top should be placed on the work table, finished side down. The stump with the plywood attached is placed on the top and fastened to it by four 1 1/2 inch wood screws.

Crepe Myrtles Great for Landscaping

Angela G. Hughes
County Agent

A SUMMER FLOWERING TREE
When people think of summer flowering trees, the one that commonly comes to mind is crepe myrtle. Crepe myrtles are wonderful trees an deserving of their reputation, but we can diversify our landscape palette. An exceptional tree that would add some special, attention-getting color to your summer gardens is the Chinese Flame Tree.

The Chinese Flame tree (Koeleria bipinnata) is closely related to a more familiar tree, the Goldenraintree (Koeleria paniculata). Flowers of Chinese Flame trees are 12 to 24 inches long and are displayed in late August.

Flame trees have a finer-textured leaf than goldenraintree and offer a colorful surprise in the fall. These familiar with the papery seed capsules of goldenraintree know that their color progresses from green to yellow to a dull brown. The seed pods of the Flame tree are pink paper capsules. These pink glowing lanterns last for 3 to 5 weeks and can be cut, dried, and used in arrangements for several years.

During its formative years (2-3 years), the Chinese Flame looks as if you are growing a stick or a fishing pole during the winter months. Large fern-like, doubly compound leaves, which look branches to many people, drop off during the winter, leaving a conversation piece of a 1-inch diameter stick.

If you can tolerate the gangly growth of the early years of the Chinese Flame tree, you will be rewarded in later years with a landscape treasure. By the third year, some branches will appear at a height of 5 to 8 feet. This is a nice natural feature for urban trees which have to be limbed-up to this height anyway.
Flower panicles usually extend during this same year.

You can also let the nursery take you past the early growth stages and buy a 3- to 4-year-old tree that is ready to strut its plumage. If you want the flowers to be at eye level, plant the tree at the bottom of a hill
so that when the tree crests the hill, the flowers are paraded in front of you. Full sun is required for best results.

The Chinese Flame tree is just one of the trees that can offer diversity and summer color to landscapes.
Don't get in a rut with your plant selections. Discover which plants are new and exciting, old and improved, or falsely maligned. Offer your landscape something unique and special.

CITY GIVEN FIFTEEN DAYS TO FILE SCHEDULE AND PLANS FOR NEW COUNCIL ELECTION

Federal judge orders Elba to hold new municipal election

by Ferrin Cox
Publisher

U. S. District Judge Myron Thompson has ordered the City of Elba to adopt revised district lines and hold new council elections. The City was given 15 days to file a schedule and plan for conducting new city council elections. The long running lawsuit charged the five voting districts in the City of Elba were not evenly divided to allow the "one man, one vote" mandate of the U. S. Constitution. The city council voted last month not to continue spending money defending the lawsuit. They declined to spend the six to eight thousand dollars to finance a new census of the community. The 1990 census was taken during or immediately after the flood of '90 and the argument had been that the totals were flawed by the confusion of people being displaced by flood waters.

Monday night the city council was asked to approve a schedule which included holding the election on September 21st. However, legal requirements which must be completed at least 60 days before the election have since postponed this schedule.

City Attorney Mark Vaughan explained he was preparing a detailed description of the new voting districts, as required by law. Following this requirement, Mayor Ricky Haywood said Tuesday afternoon he expects to proceed with the other steps needed to comply completely with the orders of the federal court.

Elba was also ordered to pay court cost and attorney fees of those filing the lawsuit. This amount will not be known until after the attorneys file their expenses with the court on or about September 1st.

Unless there is an amendment to Judge Thompson's order of July 12th, all five council districts will have a chance to vote on their council seats. This includes District 3, the seat presently held by Earl McCollough. There was speculation that he wouldn't have to face the voters again this year, since the District 3 lines didn't change under the new court order.

As had been correctly speculated, Mayor Ricky Haywood does not face the voters again this year, since his race is an "at large" race and not subject to any district lines.

Initial reaction from all council members, except District Four council member Bill Brunson, is that they will be candidates for the office in this special election. Brunson said Tuesday morning that he is seriously considering not running again. He is presently serving his second term in the office and ran unopposed in 1992.

City plans to attack abandon homes problem

by Ferrin Cox

The Elba City Council voted Monday night to begin enforcing city and state laws on abandoned homes and empty lots.

Operations Officer Henry Clark reports there are 49 homes and 27 vacant lots which are in violation of existing laws. The city is getting a lot of complaints on these properties, according to Clark. He explained that it has been three years since the flood and some owners are doing nothing about repairing or removing flood damaged houses.

Clark explained that it has been three years since the flood and some owners are doing nothing about repairing or removing flood damaged houses.

Mr. Clark told council members city hall was willing to work with any of these property owners if they would show some positive effort to restore the home or clean up the lot. The council agreed with a request from Mayor Ricky Haywood that an informal letter to these property owners would be the best first effort.

This will be followed by a certified letter signed by the Chief of Police requiring action be taken within a limited time.

A Head Start program will be started in Elba by next January, according to a letter received by Clark from Jose Henderson, Head Start Director for the Community Action Agency covering this seven county area. His office is in Troy.

The City of Elba had previously agreed to let Head Start use the old Superintendent's office and a portion of the adjacent vocational building if needed.

There were 22 traffic citations issued during this time and 13 criminal arrests.

The animal control officer picked up 24 animals and none were reclaimed by their owners.

Monthly bills totaling $19,478.37 were approved for payment.

Council member Earl McCollough suggested the City install a couple of street lights and picnic tables on the city property between the old elementary school and Cook Chevrolet for the benefit of young people who want to park and talk with their friends.

He explained that recent complaints of business owners about youths using and misusing parking lots leave them with no place to meet and talk with their friends.

This idea sparked interest of other council members and they asked McCollough to talk with residents of the neighborhood before any action was taken. He is to report back at the next council meeting.

The council approved a resolution allowing six retired city employees to get a cost of living raise as proposed during this time and 13 criminal arrests.
